

DO NOT START THE LAST DOLLAR SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATION W/O READING THIS DOCUMENT.
You'll save time and s-t-r-e-s-s.

Application: <https://apply.mykaleidoscope.com/scholarships/PEFLastDollarScholarship2022>

Click “Begin” and then “Create new account” (link upper right). Everyone needs to create an account because this is a new platform.

Required documents.

- SAR (from FAFSA)
- Transcript (unofficial is OK)
- Financial aid letter
- Off-campus lease (if applicable).

I have all of these.

As you complete each section, click “Next page” to the end. Review your answers, sign it, and click “Submit.” If something is missing, a screen will pop up alerting you to what that is.

I have one or more of these, but not all.

Complete the sections about you at the beginning. You won't be able to click “Next page” if you're missing an upload for that page. But you can skip ahead another way.

How to go back to do the uploads or revise information.

1. At the bottom of each screen, see “View all steps” in green. Click that, and you'll go to a page with all the sections of the application.
2. Each section has a button with a number on it at the right. Click that, and “Edit” becomes visible.
3. Click “Edit” to go to the section where you need to upload a document or revise information.

How to know if you're done.

The screen you see after you successfully submit the application shows other scholarships hosted on this platform for which you might be eligible. You'll also receive an email confirming your application completion.

Then what?

Within a week or 10 days, Allison Kelsey in the Scholars Program will contact you if she has questions or with the amount of your scholarship.

Contact Allison (akelsey@philaedfund.org) if:

- > You submitted your application, but you decide to go to a different college.
- > If something out of your control is delaying your application.
- > You have a question about the application or process.
